

I oppose more media consolidation. FCC rules must serve the public, rather than private, interest. The proposed change violates the charge of the FCC and the duty of the federal government to protect the constitutional freedoms of the society, not to vote in the interest of a few. There is already too much media consolidation. On June 2nd, I urge you to retain the current ownership rules.